INDOOR HOUSING FACILITIES.

Animal areas must be provided a regular diurnal lighting cycle of either natural or artificial light. Lighting must be uniformly diffused throughout animal facilities and provide sufficient illumination to aid in maintaining good housekeeping practices, adequate cleaning, adequate inspection of animals, and for the well-being of the animals.

- The lemurs had recently been moved in an indoor enclosure. However, there is inadequate lighting in this area. This could potentially stress the animals, and possibly lead to related health problems as well. The facility must ensure that the animals have a diurnal lighting cycle, with uniformly diffused lighting.

FACILITIES, GENERAL.

(c) Storage. Supplies of food and bedding shall be stored in facilities which adequately protect such supplies against deterioration, molding, or contamination by vermin.

- The food storage shed for the walk through park contained a torn bag of food, with a portion of the contents spilled onto the floor. The shed also had a considerable amount of spilled feed beneath the pallets and along the walls. Spilled feed is an attractant for rodents and pests, which could potentially lead to contamination of stored feed and bedding in the area. The area immediately around the food storage shed was also overgrown with weeds, and contained several items of unused material. This is potential harborage for pests and rodents. The area around the storage shed should be cleared to help prevent rodent/pest infestation.
