There is reason to believe that the respondents named herein have willfully violated the Animal Welfare Act, as amended (7 U.S.C. § 2131 et seq.) (Act or AWA), and the regulations issued pursuant thereto (9 C.F.R. § 1.1 et seq.) (Regulations). Therefore, the Administrator of the Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS), issues this complaint alleging the following:

JURISDICTIONAL ALLEGATIONS

1. Virginia Safari Park and Preservation Center, Inc., also known as Virginia Safari Park, Inc. (VSP), is a Virginia corporation whose agent for service of process is respondent Eric Mogensen, 229 Safari Lane, Natural Bridge, Virginia 24578. At all times mentioned herein, respondent VSP was an exhibitor, as that term is defined in the Act and the Regulations, held AWA license number 52-C-0166, and operated three zoos:

- a. The Virginia Safari Park, at Natural Bridge, Virginia (Site 001);
- b. The Reston Zoo, at Vienna, Virginia (Site 002); and
- c. The Gulf Breeze Zoo, at Gulf Breeze, Florida (Site 003).

2. Meghan Mogensen is an individual whose business mailing address is 5701 Gulf Breeze Parkway, Gulf Breeze, Florida 32563. Said respondent was the Director of the facility known as The Reston Zoo from approximately fall 2010 until 2012, and was and continues to be an agent and employee of respondent VSP. At all times mentioned herein, said respondent was acting for or employed by an exhibitor (respondent VSP), and her acts, omissions or failures within the scope of her employment or office are, pursuant to section 2139 of the Act (7 U.S.C. § 2139), deemed to be her own acts, omissions, or failures, as well as the acts, omissions, or failures of respondent VSP. On information and belief, respondent VSP currently employs Ms. Mogensen at The Gulf Breeze Zoo facility in Gulf Breeze, Florida.

3. Eric Mogensen is an individual whose business mailing address is 229 Safari Lane, Natural Bridge, Virginia 24578. At all times mentioned herein, said respondent was the Chief Executive Officer and a director of respondent VSP, and was acting for or employed by an exhibitor (respondent VSP), and his acts, omissions or failures within the scope of his employment or office are, pursuant to section 2139 of the Act (7 U.S.C. § 2139), deemed to be his own acts, omissions, or failures, as well as the acts, omissions, or failures of respondent VSP.

4. Respondent Eric Mogensen was the incorporator of Reston Zoological Park, Inc., a Virginia corporation (No. 0528503), and is its registered agent, Chief Executive Officer, and director. On January 26, 2009, respondent Eric Mogensen formed Reston Zoo, LLC, a Virginia limited liability company (No. S2813576), and said respondent is the manager and the registered agent for Reston Zoo, LLC.

5. On November 20, 2009, respondent Eric Mogensen formed Gulf Breeze Zoo, LLC, a Virginia limited liability company (No. S3095173), and said respondent is the manager and the registered agent for Gulf Breeze Zoo, LLC. On December 10, 2009, Eric Mogensen registered Gulf Breeze Zoo, LLC, in Florida as a foreign limited liability company (M09000004841).

ALLEGATIONS REGARDING BUSINESS SIZE,
GRAVITY OF VIOLATIONS, AND COMPLIANCE HISTORY

6. At all times mentioned herein, respondent VSP operated zoos at three separate sites, exhibiting domestic, wild and exotic animals to the public. Respondent VSP reported to APHIS that it held 1,268 animals in its 2009-2010 business year, 1,298 animals in its 2010-2011 business year, 1,380 animals in its 2011-2012 business year, 1,361 animals in 2012-2013 business year, and 1,364 animals in its 2013-2014 business year.

7. Respondent Eric Mogensen, while a licensee holding AWA license 52-C-0041, entered into a consent decision that resolved an administrative enforcement proceeding involving the mishandling of transportation of animals, resulting in animal deaths. APHIS issued Official Warnings to respondent Eric Mogensen in both October 1993 and February 1994.

8. The gravity of the violations alleged herein is great, and involve, among other things, the intentional drowning of a Parma Wallaby,<sup>1</sup> and the mishandling of a spider monkey, resulting in its death by hypothermia.

9. The respondents have not shown good faith. Specifically, respondent Meghan Mogensen, acting on behalf of herself and respondents VSP and Eric Mogensen, failed to obtain veterinary care for the Parma wallaby (which had suffered an eye injury) and instead drowned the wallaby in a bucket of water. Thereafter, respondent Meghan Mogensen placed the wallaby's body in a plastic bag and put the bag in a dumpster. The then-curator of The Reston Zoo found the wallaby's empty crate, as well as a 5 gallon bucket of water next to a spigot, and then discovered the body of the deceased wallaby in a dumpster. Following receipt of a public complaint, Fairfax County Animal Control conducted an investigation. Respondents Eric Mogensen, and Meghan

<sup>1</sup>The Parma wallaby (Macropus parma) is a small (approximately 7 to 12 pounds) macropod that is native to New South Wales, Australia. The Parma wallaby is identified on the IUCN (International Union for Conservation of Nature and Natural Resources) Red List as "near threatened."

Mogensen prepared a false "Euthanasia Report" about the wallaby. The "Euthanasia Report" was dated January 26, 2012, signed by respondent Meghan Mogensen, and stated, in part:

"I called our Corporate Director, Eric Mogensen, to ask what should be done with the animal. He confirmed that, according to my report and the condition of the animal, it would be most humane to euthanize the wallaby.

The wallaby was visibly suffering from head trauma and appeared to be getting weaker as it lost more blood. Being that our vet is about 1 hour away, I realized it would have to be done at the zoo. By the time I got back to euthanize the animal it was listless in its crate and in severe shock. He was humanely euthanized and died in a matter of seconds."

Respondents Eric Mogensen and Meghan Mogensen gave this "Euthanasia Report" to Fairfax County officials. An earlier draft of the "Euthanasia Report" stated, in part:

"Being that our vet is 45 minutes - 1 hour away, I realized it would have to be done at the zoo. The wallaby was visibly suffering from head trauma and appeared to be getting weaker as it lost more blood. I filled a small bucket with water and quickly submerged its upper body to suffocate and end its suffering. The weakened animal died in less than 45 second and was bagged and disposed of properly."

Euthanasia is defined in the Regulations as:

"the humane destruction of an animal accomplished by a method that produces rapid unconsciousness and subsequent death without evidence of pain or distress, or a method that utilizes anesthesia produced by an agent that causes painless loss of consciousness and subsequent death."

9 C.F.R. § 1.1

Drowning an animal is not euthanasia.

10. On January 26, 2012, respondent Meghan Mogensen told Animal Control Officer Jennifer Milburn that she had euthanized the wallaby using an injection of Beuthanasia solution, and that the reason that the deceased wallaby's body was soaking wet was because respondents routinely wash the animals' bodies. During an AWA inspection on February 1, 2012, respondent Meghan Mogensen told APHIS Veterinary Medical Officer Gloria McFadden that she had euthanized the wallaby by injecting it with Xylazine. A necropsy performed on the deceased wallaby revealed no evidence of euthanasia by pentobarbital, ketamine, xylazine, or other chemicals), or evidence of any injection in the animal's legs, arms, or jugular. The necropsy also refuted respondents' claim that the wallaby was suffering from a "head trauma."

11. From approximately January 14 to January 19, 2012, respondents VSP, Eric Mogensen, and Meghan Mogensen housed a Spider monkey (Jethro) at The Reston Zoo outdoors in sub-freezing weather, resulting in frostbite. Respondents transferred Jethro to The Virginia Safari Park. Despite having visible lesions on his hands and feet, respondents did not have Jethro examined by a veterinarian until February 1, 2012. On February 14, 2012, respondents obtained follow-up care for Jethro, at which point the Spider monkey's injuries were such that the veterinarian recommended, and performed, euthanasia. On January 28, 2014, respondent VSP housed an African Crested porcupine (Mr. Quills) outdoors at The Reston Zoo in sub-freezing temperatures, whereupon Mr. Quills exhibited signs of hypothermia, and respondent did not have the porcupine examined by a veterinarian, did not follow the recommendations of the attending veterinarian, administered expired fluids to Mr. Quills, and Mr. Quills died approximately 9 hours after he was placed in the outdoor enclosure.

12. Respondents have repeatedly evidenced an unwillingness and/or inability to comply with the Act and the Regulations, and have on multiple occasions demonstrated a lack of concern for the welfare of the animals in their custody.

d. Between approximately January 14 through January 19, 2012. Respondents VSP, Eric Mogensen and Meghan Mogensen, at The Reston Zoo, kept a Spider monkey (Jethro) in outdoor facilities despite the fact that the attending veterinarian had not determined that Jethro was acclimated to the prevailing temperature at respondents' outdoor

n. April 8, 2015. Respondents VSP and Eric Mogensen, at The Gulf Breeze Zoo, failed to maintain the following enclosures in good repair so as to protect the animals from injury, and specifically, the plywood used to construct the night house for raccoons was splintered and warped, and the wire sides of the structure were very rusted with areas of
